Postmaster McGinnis Appeals To Vacationists

With the closing of schools in the coming weeks, hundreds of local individuals and families will be heading for the mountains, country or seashore for the summer vacation months. Postmaster R. A. McGinnis of the Arlington Post Office has appealed to all vacationists to arrange for the forwarding of their mail during their absence.

"It is dangerous habit to permit letters and other types of mail matter to accumulate in mail receptacles while the family is away for an extended period," said the postmaster. "It serves notice to unscrupulous individuals that the home is temporarily vacated. Every year, despite our appeal, many families go away for weeks or for months without regard for the protection of their mail," he said.

Persons should notify their letter carrier or local postoffice that they plan to be away and complete the temporary change of address card showing the dates during which the mail should be forwarded and make prior arrangements for the payment of additional postage for the forwarding of other than first class mail.

Under the new regulations, newspapers, periodicals, parcel post and other types of mail matter, other than first class mail, cannot be forwarded unless prior arrangements have been made to guarantee forwarding postage and the person should so indicate the types of mail he wishes to be sent along to his summer address. These new temporary change of address cards may be obtained from the letter carrier or from the local post office.

Postal officials also recommend that vacationists be sure of the correct name and spelling of their summer address. It is also suggested that a sufficient supply of stamps be purchased before departing for summer vacation spots since, in many places, the post-office may be a considerable distance. Books of postage stamps are recommended highly for this purpose because the pages are interleaved and the stamps do not stick together in warm or humid weather.

Representative Keenan has also been informed by town authorities that they are near completion of their work on Summer Street and as soon as that is completed, the state will start work on the improvement of Summer Street Boulevard. The state has already started ed on the Lexington end of Summer Street Boulevard and has continued the project through to Massachusetts Avenue, Lexington, improving Maple Street.

AN ARLINGTON INSTITUTION CLOSES ITS DOORS AFTER A LONG RECORD OF SERVICE

The rumor of the past months has indeed become the fact, for at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 5th, Daniel D. Smith, proprietor and manager of the Pierson's Drug Store, located at Arlington Center, closed its doors for business and thereby ended the existence of one more of Arlington's well known business establishments.

"Dan" as he is known to the many who are proud to be numbered among his loyal legion of friends, performed this most unpleasant task of closing up shop with a heavy heart, for the decision was not of his choosing; had not the inevitable price of unbearable overhead charges been brought to the front by the termination of his lease and the change of ownership of the property, Dan Smith would still be behind his counter or better still compounding the doctors prescriptions for those whose health would be sure to be improved by the combined interest of the family doctor and the trusted pharmacist.

Pierson's Drug Store was more than just another drug store, as anyone who stepped across its threshold can attest to. The intangible quality of personality, so valuable to the assets of any business, was quite noticeable on these premises and the community will be the loser because the departure of this member of that group of men who conduct their own business.

The drug store bearing the Pierson name was started by Frank I. Pierson who disposed of his drug store property in Fitchburg, Mass. and started this Arlington store in 1921. Mr. Pierson made a success of business at this corner and eventually opened up another store in Lexington, under the management of his son, Charles Pierson. With the death of the father, Frank I. Pierson in 1934, the responsibility of continuing fell upon the son, Charles. That is when the Arlington store changed to the ownership of Daniel Smith, who continued to conduct the business under the Pierson name, which by this time had become a landmark for service at Arlington Center.

Dan Smith carried on the business principles of service and value, instituted by his predecessor and in quick time cultivated the friendship of many of Arlington's true citizens. The element of value that cannot be erased or forgotten is shown by his proper reception of the children of the community, who upon arriving at maturity recognized the friend they had in their druggist "Dan" Smith. Pierson's Drug Store under his personal management continued to serve the many members of the medical profession who advised that their prescriptions be filled at this store under known competent and experienced personnel.

Our best wishes are extended to "Dan" Smith, upon the close of his business associations in the Center and we wish for him success in any and all new ventures which he may enter into.

Mr. Charles A. Berman, proprietor of the Pleasant Street Pharmacy in Belmont, has taken over the prescription department of the Pierson Pharmacy, which recently closed its doors on Sunday.

Mr. Berman was formerly chief pharmacist for the Chester A. Baker Pharmacy of Boston, and was also associated for several years with the Lederle Laboratories, nationally known pharmaceuticals and chemists.

Chairman Golden Urges All Citizens To Do Their Part To Put Hospital Drive Over

First returns in the general public campaign for Symmes Arlington Hospital's $300,000 building fund Monday night were 297 subscriptions amounting to $8,314.50, bringing the fund's total $137,149.50, it was announced by James J. Golden, Arlington public campaign chairman, at the initial campaign report supper in Ye Lantern Inn Monday evening.

The figures were computed after group leaders and representatives of the 400 volunteer workers announced progress of their teams during the first three days of the two-week project to seek widespread public support for the enlarged and modernized hospital.

In Arlington, the teams organization under the chairmanship of Mr. Golden announced 257 subscriptions for $7,692.50, while Mr. David L. Peirce, Lexington public campaign chairman, reported that volunteers in the neighboring town obtained 40 contributions for $662.

Mr. Golden said that he considered the initial reports highly encouraging and an indication of what could be expected from the public campaign with every volunteer's concentrated application. However, he warned that success would come only if each individual team member put forth every effort.

He reminded his listeners that they were not working alone; that other major committees, including the memorial gifts committee, the special gifts committee & business and mercantile committee, would be active during the period of the general public campaign.

A.V.N.A. HOLDS RECEPTION AND TEA

On Wednesday afternoon a very delightful tea was given at the home of Mrs. Hallam T. Ring, of Hillside avenue. The occasion was a farewell reception for Mrs. Leland L. Estes, Jr., who has resigned as secretary to the nursing staff of the Arlington Visiting Nursing Association. Mrs. Estes has made a great many friends during the two years she has been with the Association and the Board is very sorry to lose her services.

At the spring sports banquet held recently at the school, Cavicke and Lincoln were awarded letters in varsity track and White received a varsity golf letter.

Corbett, of 161 Wollaston avenue, also of Arlington Heights. Following the ceremony, performed by the Rev. Robert W. Shea, curate, a wedding reception was held in St. James parish hall.

Leading all teams in Arlington was the group headed by William B. Houser with 15 subscriptions for $1,670. Top score in the women's division was made by Mrs. Howard A. McGovern's team with 13 contributions totaling $430.

The second report meeting, marking the halfway point of the public campaign will be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. in Ye Lantern Inn, and the third report supper will be held Monday evening at the same place.

Famed Vacationland

Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard are islands of quaintness, remoteness and authentic Colonial charm. Their history-laden atmosphere and facilities for all outdoor sports have made them popular spots for Bay Staters on "stay at-home" vacations, according to Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission.

Ideal for a healthy, restful vacation, these two island gems combine the flavor of quiet historical New England with the active life of a well-equipped summer resort. The vacationist on Nantucket or Martha's Vineyard finds excellent sailing, fishing, tennis, bicycling, horseback riding swimming, and golf.

Nantucket though 30 miles off the elbow of Cape Cod, is easily accessible by boat or plane. The same is true of Martha's Vineyard which is only four miles off the heel of Cape Cod.

If the vacationist arrives in Nantucket by boat from New Bedford or Woods Hole, the first thing he sees is a row of houses on Brant Point with Brant Point Light dominating the view. The harbor of Nantucket is dotted with "cats" of the Rainbow Fleet, small sailboats with colored sails. Just off the steamboat landing is the Whaling Museum filled with curios that recall the days when Nantucket was the nation's whaling center.

The City of Malden is engaged in completing preparations for a celebration to take place during the entire week of June 12th which will commemorate the 300th year of Malden's existence. Nearly 400 local citizens, functioning in dozens of committees, have been planning for several weeks now for this event with the aim of making the Malden Tercentenary a celebration worthy of such an historic occasion.

Features introduced so far include wooden nickels which, covered by deposits in the Malden Banks are to be utilized as sound currency and a special Tercentenary hat, differing somewhat outrageously from any form of headgear in fashion with either sex, which is supposed to be worn by all good citizens upon pain of suffering a severe penalty.

An election is currently taking place to choose a "Miss Malden Tercentenary" who will be the central figure of the week's festivities and whose reward will be a 6,000 mile trip around the USA climaxed by a visit to the Hollywood studios. Over 100 young ladies are in this contest.

A parade of ten divisions with twenty four bands and forty floats on Sunday afternoon, June 12th, will inaugurate the week's crowded schedule of events. An historic pageant spectacle with a cast of over one thousand which will depict the highlights of three centuries of Malden history will be presented for five consecutive nights beginning Monday June 13th, at the Pearl Street Stadium of this city. This is the main event of the Tercentenary celebration and has been projected on a tremendous scale.

RED CROSS ASKS FOR CANTEEN WORKERS

Local women who are interested in food preparation and group feeding and who can volunteer a few hours a day, one day a week, are urged by the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of Red Cross to volunteer for Canteen Service.

"We must have additional volunteer assistance if we are to continue to fulfill jobs assigned to the Canteen Service," said Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, chairman of this service.

Volunteers in the Canteen Service are instructed in the preparation of food for emergency group feedings in disaster, the preparation and serving food at Chapter House at blood clinics and for many other Red Cross and community functions. Canteen service carries on a very active program for servicemen and veterans in local hospitals, stated Mrs. Richmond. "Canteen volunteers have served over 250 gallons of coffee; 2,000 dozen of doughnuts; 2,000 pints of milk and hundreds and hundreds of cookies and candy bars at dock-side on the recent arrival of DP ships."

Women who volunteer for Canteen duties are a part of a very essential service and work largely for the satisfaction of serving—their communities and their fellow man. The personal reward is in knowing that you are helping where help is really needed.

Gov. Dever Signs Bill On Town Ballot Change

Last week Governor Dever signed the enabling act to put the matter of changing the setup of the Arlington town government, on the ballot at the annual election to come next March.

Representatives Keenan and Gott filed the bill, which was passed by the state legislature, permitting the voters of Arlington to adopt the change if they wish. It is proposed to unite the duties of the Arlington Department of Public Works and the Board of Selectmen and enlarge the membership of the latter board to five. This change was suggested by a special town committee, and received favorable attention by the town meeting members. The final decision, however, rests with the voters.

Representative Gott first appeared before the Committee on Rules at the State House, asking that the bill be admitted before the House, and then later appeared before the Committee on Towns requesting a favorable report.
